

Aerobatic feat

Recreation 123 students have fun experimenting with inexpensive activities in the RB courtyard Thursday. Gary Nielsen of Mapleton, Utah, majoring in recreation administration, seems to be up in the air over the matter.

Universes photo by Dave Hawklinson

Nation's groundwater polluted by chemicals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chemical contamination of groundwater supplies has closed more than 1,000 water wells, affects every state in the nation and, over the long run, threatens the water supplies of half the nation's population.

The report by the congressional Office of Technology Assessment said the problem, a hidden and gradual pollution that seldom makes headlines, is bad and getting worse because state and federal laws and programs do not adequately protect groundwater supplies.

Sen. David Durenberger, R-Minn., who released the report, said he believes groundwater contamination "will be the principal environmental concern for the rest of this decade."

The OTA report adds to a growing file of studies indicating that groundwater pollution is fast becoming one of the most important pollution threats facing the United States.

A House Government Operations Committee study says groundwater is among the most vulnerable to contamination of all natural resources, and that "significant portions of it are being damaged and its usefulness destroyed" by man-made pollution.

And the Environmental Protection Agency, in a draft report scheduled for release early next year, says states are failing in their responsibility to ensure that toxic waste dumps are monitored for groundwater contamination.

The draft report, obtained Thursday, says EPA's desire to delegate monitoring

The Office of Technology report adds to a growing file of studies indicating that groundwater pollution is fast becoming one of the most important pollution threats facing the United States.

responsibilities to the states "has resulted in authorizing many states that were ill-prepared to implement the program."

But the new 244-page report by OTA, a non-partisan analytical arm of Congress, provides perhaps the most comprehensive summary of the problem and of the challenge of dealing with it.

The resources affected are the huge underground water reservoirs, called aquifers, that underlie much of the country and which now provide more than 50 billion gallons of water a day to surface users. More than half the nation depends on groundwater for its drinking water, including more than 80 percent of rural families.

But those aquifers are increasingly becoming contaminated, Durenberger said in releasing the report, with some cases of contamination now reported in every state in the nation.

In the San Gabriel Valley of California, 38 public wells serving 400,000 people had to be shut down because of contamination by triethylene glycol, an industrial solvent that causes cancer and affects the liver, kidneys and nervous system.

In Florida, Durenberger said, 681 wells were found to contain the pesticide ethylene dibromide, a potent carcinogen. State officials in Tallahassee told The Associated Press on Thursday that the list has since expanded to 721, and residents have been advised not to drink water from those wells.

Public wells have been closed in 22 states in Massachusetts, 16 in Connecticut, 25 in Pennsylvania and 22 in New York. Durenberger said. Some 100 private wells were recently closed on Long Island, and 150 in Minnesota.

One 1983 study identified 2,820 wells nationwide that have been closed or affected by contamination, he said. The Congressional Research Service, in an earlier report, said more than 4,000 private, public and industrial wells have been closed or damaged because of contamination.

Despite those figures, OTA said it believed only a small portion of the nation's total underground water supplies are contaminated — perhaps 1 to 2 percent. But it added that detailed estimates of the extent of contamination "are not now, and probably never will be, available."

That is because groundwater, flowing only a few feet below porous rock, sand or gravel, does not disperse pollutants quickly. Thus, monitoring wells can miss a toxic "plume" of pollution by a few feet, showing pure water when an aquifer in fact is being contaminated.

Drugs in families studied

U of U tries to prevent children from abusing

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — With more than 60,000 Utah youth living in homes where parents abuse alcohol or drugs, the University of Utah research institute is looking at ways to keep those children from becoming substance abusers themselves.

Researchers at the University of Utah Social Research Institute are in the third phase of a three-year project to study programs designed to prevent children from becoming substance abusers themselves.

The project is being funded by the National Institute on Drug Abuse. "The federal government, realizing that treatment programs are time-consuming and often ineffective, is turning its attention to prevention programs aimed at the children of substance abusers," said Joe DeMarsh, project coordinator.

DeMarsh said several programs aimed at families of abusers have been available, but until now there has been no attempt to assess them.

Researchers used the project's first year assessing materials and in the second year they pilot-tested model programs. In the current phase, families are being recruited to participate in one of three prototype prevention programs.

Each program lasts 14 weeks and is available through Project Reality or Salt Lake County Mental Health Drug and Alcohol Abuse Unit.

One program works with an entire family to enhance relationships, exploring how substance abuse affects children and how children can deal with it.

Another program works with children and parents separately, with parents participating in training classes and children taking social-skills classes to learn how to resist peer pressure and communicate with their parents.

The third program works with parents on their own, teaching them how to develop similar problems

Poland will charge government official for priest's abduction

Catholic primate suspects murder

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The government announced Thursday it will charge an Interior Ministry official in the abduction of a missing Roman Catholic priest and the ministry said other suspects have been detained.

Poland's Roman Catholic primate said he feared the Rev. Jerzy Popieluszko, an outspoken supporter of the outlawed Solidarity labor union, may have been murdered. The primate, Cardinal Jozef Glemp, demanded a full explanation of Popieluszko's disappearance from Communist authorities.

Government spokesman Jerzy Urban announced that an Interior Ministry official, identified only as Grzegorz P., would be charged in connection with the abduction after the discovery of incriminating evidence in his car. The car was believed to have been used in the abduction six days ago.

Urban said in a radio broadcast that investigators had found hair matching that of the missing priest in the trunk of a car driven by the Interior Ministry official. "It may be expected he will be charged and arrested on the basis of investigation materials," Urban said.

The rank of the official, who was placed under provisional arrest on Wednesday, was not given. But government officials said he was either a uniformed policeman or plainclothesman based in Warsaw.

The Polish Interior Ministry is in charge of both the uniformed police force and the secret police. Official announcements referred to the arrested man as a "functionary" in the Interior Ministry. A spokesman at the Interior Ministry said the title "functionary" means the arrested man "holds some type of rank in the police force."

Urban said there were other "suspected culprits" in the kidnapping and that authorities had found fingerprints in the priest's car similar to fingerprints of one of those suspected.

A communique issued by the Interior Ministry and broadcast on the radio confirmed Urban's remarks and said there were other "abductors" detained at the order of the Interior Ministry. The communique did not say how many others were detained or who they were.

In a broadcast on Radio Warsaw, Urban said "thousands of police and security service functionaries" were searching for Popieluszko.

Popieluszko, 37, was kidnapped last Friday by a group of unidentified men, one of them wearing a police uniform, on a highway in northern Poland. No one has claimed responsibility.

Judge to reveal findings on plot

ROME (AP) — An Italian judge has spent three days considering whether there was a Bulgarian connection in a plot to kill Pope John Paul II will report his findings today, judicial officials said Thursday.

An attorney representing a Bulgarian being held in Italy said he is convinced that his client will be indicted on charges of complicity in the May 13, 1981 shooting of the pope by Mehmet Ali Agca.

"I think we are going to trial," lawyer Giuseppe Consolo told The Associated Press. "We will find out tomorrow." He represents Bulgarian Sergei Ivanov Antonov.

Judge Ernesto Cudillo, chief of investigating magistrates, said Judge Ilario Martella, the head of the investigation into the shooting, will deliver his decision to the Court of Assize sometime this morning.

Cudillo told AP that reporters would only be told who, if anyone, is indicted and the charges. The reasons for any possible indictments and the evidence backing them up will not be made public, he said.

A prosecutor who reviewed the evidence gathered by Martella recommended in May that three Bulgarians and four Turks stand trial for complicity in the assassination attempt on Pope John Paul II, who is a Turk. But the final decision on indictments rests with Martella.

The Bulgarians were indicted, it could lead to a sensational trial dealing with charges of involvement by Bulgarian secret services with the possible aid from the Soviet Union.

Prosecutor Antonio Albano, who reviewed the evidence, told the AP in June that he is convinced Bulgaria, possibly with Soviet aid, masterminded the assassination attempt to stop socialist unrest in the pope's native Poland.

The prosecutor said he doubted that Bulgaria would act without the approval of the Soviet Union.

The theory is that the Soviet Union wanted to eliminate John Paul because of his support of the now-banned Polish Solidarity union, the first union free of government control in the Soviet bloc.

Bulgaria has repeatedly denied the charges and has countered the Western intelligence agencies were trying to smear the Soviet bloc countries.

Prosecutor Albano said most of the case was built on testimony by John Paul's first claimed he acted alone, but changed his story and decided to cooperate with investigators after he was sentenced to life imprisonment.

In a surprise meeting with reporters last year, Agca said the Soviet KGB intelligence service was behind the attack and he identified his alleged Bulgarian co-conspirators.

Albano confirmed press reports that Agca has frequently changed his story and admitted lying about some of his testimony — a factor that is said to be crucial to any defense.

The prosecutor studied 25,000 pages of evidence gathered by Judge Martella, who was assigned to head the investigation after the case was reopened in November 1981.

Nicaragua's leftist government and some Americans living in the country have charged repeatedly that rebel forces have targeted civilian government officials and Communist Sandinista supporters for assassination.

On Thursday, the Nicaraguan Embassy in Washington released a broadcast of a letter by rebel forces since 1981, alleging that 854 people have been "assassinated," including 289 government employees, 138 peasants on agricultural cooperatives, and 50 adult education teachers.

The Associated Press reported the existence of the CIA manual on 40 days ago. Four days later, Reagan ordered two administration investigations, including an internal review by the CIA.

CIA manual investigation continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional oversight committee staffs are broadening their inquiries into the CIA's Nicaraguan rebel manual to examine what the spy agency knew about alleged political killings carried out by U.S.-backed forces, Capitol Hill sources said Thursday.

Initial reviews by the House and Senate Intelligence committees focused on who authorized production of the CIA manual, which advocates "selective use of violence" to "neutralize" officials of Nicaragua's leftist government.

But staff investigators for both committees are also looking into whether the rebels have, in fact, executed Nicaraguan officials and what the CIA's role may have been, said sources, who spoke only on condition they not be identified.

"We don't want our people getting bogged down on who deleted which paragraph" of various versions of the manual, said one House Intelligence Committee official.

He added that the committee is trying to get loose information from the CIA about reported reports that anti-government rebels have attacked civilian targets and executed individual officials.

Last Sunday, President Reagan said a CIA employee in Central America wrote the manual, but that sections relating to assassinations were deleted by his superiors there and at CIA headquarters.

CIA officials, however, told the Senate Intelligence Committee on Monday that all copies of the manual contained advice on "neutralizing" Nicaraguan officials.

CIA officials also said they were recalling all versions of the 90-page briefing.

During the three-hour briefing Monday, the committee also reviewed a 1982 Defense Intelligence Agency report that stated that rebels had engaged in the assassination of minor government officials and a Cuban adviser.

Officials who attended that briefing later discounted the DIA report, saying it was based largely on local Nicaraguan press reports and discussions with foreign journalists, not on hard intelligence. Sources also say the CIA has denied knowledge of such killings.

But one committee source said that during the early days of the covert operation, which began in December 1981, the CIA "did not have 100 percent control of all these guys" and that it was clear the Nicaraguan civilians "have been killed or murdered or even assassinated."

Nicaragua's leftist government and some Americans living in the country have charged repeatedly that rebel forces have targeted civilian government officials and Communist Sandinista supporters for assassination.

On Thursday, the Nicaraguan Embassy in Washington released a broadcast of a letter by rebel forces since 1981, alleging that 854 people have been "assassinated," including 289 government employees, 138 peasants on agricultural cooperatives, and 50 adult education teachers.

The Associated Press reported the existence of the CIA manual on 40 days ago. Four days later, Reagan ordered two administration investigations, including an internal review by the CIA.

SHARLENE WELLS

Wells makes first trip to home state

By JANE FOSTER
University Staff Writer

Sharlene Wells said if having a squeaky clean image got her the title as Miss America, she loves it.

It was a press conference held Thursday after arriving in Salt Lake City for her first home visit since being crowned. Wells said the stress of a demanding schedule and continually being in the limelight have been the hardest obstacles for her to get used to as the new Miss America.

"It sometimes surprises me that I am still smiling after a month and a half of being Miss America. I did not know I could hold up to this kind of stress. I'm still alive," Wells said laughing.

Asked if the Vanessa Williams scandal hurt the Miss America pageant, Wells said no. It increased interest. "It was an unfortunate situation, but it has made me want to work harder," she said.

Wells said the experience as Miss America has helped her to see different facets of the media world. Because of this exposure, she has decided not to seek a broadcasting degree, but is thinking of majoring in journalism and getting a masters in business administration.

"I do not need a degree in broadcast journalism because of my exposure as Miss America," Wells said.

She also said a future goal for her will be attending Oxford College to get her masters degree after graduating from BYU.

When asked what message Miss America could share as a platform, she said, "I want people to know they can be different in society and not succumb to peer pressure. All people are equal, we do not need to follow someone else."

Wells said the most memorable moment as Miss America happened in Sacramento, Calif., at an autograph party. A lady asked Wells to come to her car and sign her sons' cast. Wells said she would sign his cast after finishing signing autographs for the long line. After an hour and a half, Wells went to the woman's station wagon and found the boy in a full body cast.

When asked what her favorite places to visit have been, Wells said her first choice would be Boston, and then Chicago.

"Both Boston and Chicago have a sense of class and quaintness. Boston is unique and has charm," Wells said. Saying the press has been nice to her and she is not sour on the media as reported, Wells said she has been asked every single question possible adding that thinking of different answers to the same questions often became a challenge.

She joked, "I am Miss America. I know everything."

Miss America 1984, Sharlene Wells, returned to Utah on Thursday for the first time since winning the title.

Women's rights scholar to visit

Affairs of women will be addressed

A legal scholar and pioneer in the modern-day women's movement, Nancy Reeves, will speak at 12:40 p.m. in 151 TNBR. Reeves was one of the first to teach courses in women's studies and later wrote a book from which she based a radio series, "Womankind: Beyond the Stereotype." Reeves will speak at 12:40 p.m. in 151 TNBR.

Reeves graduated from New York University Law School during the Depression, then passed the bar in New York and California. She has practiced law in both states and is now director of the Center for the Study of Change in Los Angeles.

In 1980 Reeves donated $50,000 to the University of Southern California's Program for the Study of Women and Men in Society to finance a professor, and to an institute for studying the position of women in the Third World.

More recently, Reeves suggested in an article in USC's "New Management" journal that women may be the best hope of American corporations. Corporations need to adapt to a changing world, she said. However, men who run the corporations often have too deep a stake in the status quo while women have been discriminated and have no investment in the current structures, she said.

NANCY REEVES

"I propose, knowing it is controversial, that executives stop recruiting women for reasons of justice or affirmative action, and adopt instead the self-serving policy of seeking them out to help reconciliation maladjusting corporations," Reeves said in the 1984 article.

Reduced computer prices unknown to most students

By MARK N. MERRILL
Universe Staff Writer

About three-fourths of the BYU student body are not aware of reduced computer prices offered at the BYU Bookstore, and the facilities available to help students decide which computer to buy.

Since August, IBM and Apple computers have been available at the BYU Bookstore at 30 to 50 percent off the retail price. A Computer Consultation Center, in 197 TMCB, has been provided to give students general information and hands-on experience with computers they may be interested in buying, said Jan De Lassen, director of Computer Application Services.

IBM and Apple computer companies have offered their computers to BYU at reduced prices, Lassen said.

In exchange, BYU agreed to share any software developed with other universities involved in this program and the company that provided the computer.

"All of this has happened very quickly," Lassen said. "What the problem has been is the fact that apparently it has not been disseminated as news to the campus community."

Lassen said faculty members would ask their students if they knew that the Apple Macintosh computer was offered to students at half price. We get faculty members who call up and say, 'How's three-quarters of my class didn't know,' Lassen said.

Along with not knowing about the computer prices, many are unaware of the CCC, which has recently been organized. "This is where you go if you don't know anything," Lassen said.

Students are free to go to the CCC and try the computers there to help them decide which would fit their needs.

Scott Lemon, technical coordinator for the Computer Distribution Center, said, "Once the student buys the machine there are all sorts of resources to support him."

If a student's computer breaks down after he buys it, there is a center on campus that will fix and maintain all computers free of charge, Lemon said.

"The computer stays on campus to be repaired so the student doesn't have to send his computer back to Kentucky or wherever."

"These are people going up and trespassing."

Residents living near the gun club have contacted KALL radio describing a recent "blood bath" in which dozens of deer were shot.

Hayward said action has been taken against the perpetrators and the investigation continues.

"At this point, I know of none who have been caught with dead deer."

Residents complain of illegal hunting

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Salt Lake County Sheriff Pete Hayward has stepped up patrols near the Holladay Gun Club because local residents have complained people are illegally hunting in the area.

Hayward said it's illegal to discharge a firearm within one mile of any residential building, but he's received reports that several hunters are shooting deer on club land and on Utah Power & Light Co. property nearby.

"The Holladay Gun Club members are not involved that I know of," Hayward said.

Junior high may experiment with an 11-month schedule

By TRACY KING
Universe Staff Writer

The construction on the Canyon View Junior High School is slowly progressing and the administrators of this school and others may incorporate an 11-month school-year plan in the future. In an Alpine Board of Education meeting Tuesday, the public asked questions of the board, and these two subjects were most heavily discussed. The school has a completion date of Nov. 8, which includes the 60-day extension the contractor's were given by the board to complete the school. Even with this extension, however, Superintendent Clark R. Cox does not believe the school will be completed by that time.

Many difficulties with the plumbing and heating of the school have caused serious delay in construction, the superintendent of the district said. The board is planning to open the school immediately after Christmas vacation. If the Nov. 8 deadline is not met, a $500 penalty will result for each day the contractor's do not complete the school, Cox said.

The board was also asked about the full-year school plan and if they are planning to incorporate this program into the district.

The full-year school plan consists of students attending school 11 months out of the year and having July as their summer vacation. The students would attend school for the regular 193 days, going to school for 15 days and then having a break of three weeks. Different students will get their breaks at different times, so the school will never close during the breaks.

Orchard Elementary School in Orem will be experimenting with the full-year school plan starting in 1985. "If the study goes well, we will begin the program in Alpine," Cox said. The main advantage of the program is that it will do away with the loss of memory or interest the students suffer when they return after their three-month summer vacation, Cox said.

THE DAILY UNIVERSE

The Daily Universe is an official publication of Brigham Young University and is published as a cooperative enterprise of students and faculty. It is produced as a laboratory newspaper in the Department of Communications under the direction of an executive editor and with the counsel of a university-wide advisory committee.

The Daily Universe is published Monday through Friday during fall and winter semesters except during vacation and examination periods. The Universe is published Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday during spring and summer terms.

Opinions expressed in The Daily Universe do not necessarily reflect the views of the student body, faculty, university administration, or board of trustees of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. Subscription prices: $2 per year.

Offices: 528 Ernest L. Wilkinson Center, Printer: Brigham Young University Print Services. Editor: Anne Thompson; Deputy Editor: Jeff Hager; Ad Service Mgr.: Kris Schultze; Ad Art Director: Brian Andrus; News Editor: Shannon Hall; Copy Editor: Steve Gardner; Asst. Editor: Scott Trotter; Campus Editor: Larry Harty; Asst. Campus Editor: Peter Powell; Sports Editor: Scott Pierce; Asst. Sports Editor: Troy Salazar; Lifestyle Editor: Mike Allen; Photo Editor: Nicole Haffell; Editorial Page Editor: Troy Salazar; Book Review Editor: Sandra Stallings; Camille Craig; Night Editor: Mark Carpenter; Writer: Kristy Davis; Photo Editor: George Frey; Asst. Photo Editor: Doug Lind; Dave Siddaway; Senior Reporters: Jennifer Usher, Jean Epplin, Laura Childers; Teaching Assistant: Susan Harris; Monday Editor: Edna; Tuesday Editor: Susan Harris; Wednesday Editor: Craig Steinhilber; Managing Editor and Receptionist: Wendy Blawie; Afternoon Editor: Editor and Receptionist: Connie Roberts; Unstaff Editor: Dean Barry.

WEATHER

Utah Valley forecast: Variable clouds through Saturday with an increasing chance of showers tonight and Sunday.

High: 60-65; low: 30-35.

For the 24-hour period ending 6 p.m.

Thursday:

High temperature: 55

Low temperature: 24

One year ago: 65-83

Prevailing wind direction: southwest

Pearl wind speed: 14 mph, 4:20 p.m. Thursday

High humidity: 99 percent

Low humidity: 25 percent

Precipitation: none

Month to date: 2.58 inches

The Pie Has It All!

We're More Than Just Pizza!

The Pie Pizzeria
1445 N. Canyon Rd.
373-1600

DISCOUNT CHRISTMAS AIR

DAILY DEPARTURES DEC. 13-18

All roundtrip from SLC No extra charge for weekend travel
BOSTON	$380	MEMPHIS $329
CHICAGO	$290	MIAMI $429
CINCINNATI	$299	NASHVILLE $329
CLEVELAND	$310	NEW YORK CITY $350
COLUMBUS	$350	SAN FRANCISCO $200
DAYTON	$329	PHILADELPHIA $350
DETROIT	$310	PITTSBURGH $380
HARTFORD	$429	ST. LOUIS $300
LOS ANGELES	$149	WASHINGTON DC $320

Subject to availability & travel conditions. Call for details.

THOMAS TRAVEL EXPRESS

208 East 800 South Salt Lake City, UT 84111

328-9803

TV triggers aggression, teacher says

WASHINGTON

A teacher told a Senate panel Thursday that her young charges kick like "Kung Fu" and drive toy cars like the "Dukes of Hazzard" as she contended television is a triggering factor in children's aggressiveness.

"Before 'Dukes of Hazzard,' they used to build really nice roads—now they have a tendency not to build roads and to drive like mad" as they play with toy cars at the Early Childhood Learning Center of the University of the District of Columbia, said

Mary Ann Banta, 40. One of her pupils, a 4-year-old Crystal Snowden, told the Senate Judiciary Committee's subcommittee on juvenile justice she likes the grabbing other's stuff. Dubbed the "CBS tell," Snowden said in response to questions by Sen. "they jump" and "they Arlen Specter, R-Pa., chose."

"We do it on our own."

HALLOWEEN SPECIAL

Rent a Video Movie

FREE

with the purchase of 2 or more bottles

Oasis Non-Alcoholic Bottle Shoppe & Video Oasis

286 North University, Provo

377-0777

Coupon expires October 31, 1984

Where can you see 200 young Suzuki-method violinists and enjoy dramatic reading competition for only a dollar?

Classical Showcase

Saturday, October 27th, 7:30 p.m.

Madsen Recital Hall, HFAC.

It will be a really big shew!

Symposium on human rights

Friday

DAVID BOHN, Political Science, BYU
Can BYU Students Promote Human Rights?
9 a.m./321 ELWC

MARJORIE MCMURRAY, Tolstoy Foundation, SLC
Issues of Refugees and Illegal Aliens
10 a.m./321 ELWC

RAY HILLAM, LAMOND TULLIS, and DENNIS THOMPSON, Political Sci. BYU
GARY BROWNING, German and Slavic, BYU; U.S. Foreign Policy and Human Rights
12 noon/321 ELWC

MICHAEL POSNER, Chairman of the Lawyers Committee for Intl. Human Rights, NY
Legal Aspects of Human Rights in El Salvador and Nicaragua
11 a.m./321 ELWC

Presentation of Winning Student Paper Individual Promotion of Human Rights
2 p.m./321 ELWC

NEIL YORK, History and Amer. Studies, BYU
The Right to Dissent
3 p.m./321 ELWC

EUGENE ENGLAND, English, and Kennedy International Center, BYU LDS Church
Involvement in Human Needs
4 p.m./321 ELWC

Thursday

VAL MACMURRAY, Asst. Commissioner, LDS Social Services
Keynote Address: Issues of Human Rights and the Christian Response
11 a.m./Varsity Theatre, ELWC

Film, ALEXANDER SOLZHENITSYN, "One Word of Truth"
2 p.m./321 ELWC

IDA SMITH, Director of Alumni Cont. Ed.
Women's Issues: Challenges of the '80s in a Rapidly Changing Society
12 noon/321 ELWC

JAMES DOOLEY, Past Utah Pres. of the NAACP
Update on Civil Rights in America
1 p.m./321 ELWC

KAY HUNT, Economics Professor, U of U
Alternatives in Central America
3 p.m./321 ELWC

JANICE CLEMMER, Indian Education, BYU
Native American Rights
4 p.m./321 ELWC

JACK HEALEY, Pres. of Amnesty Intl., USA
International Human Rights Violations—What Can Be Done?
8 p.m./Main Ballroom, ELWC

Candy bomber recounts story

Y assistant dean dropped treats to children during war

By GINA R. MARCUCCI COX
Universe Staff Writer

To BYU, Gail Halvorsen is the assistant dean of Student Life, but to the children of blockaded Berlin in 1948, he is the candy bomber.

At that time, Halvorsen was a lieutenant in the Air Force and volunteered to transport food, medicine and fuel as part of "Operation Vittles" to Berlin shortly after the airlift began in 1948.

Planes landed at Tempelhof Airport every three minutes. "We were only in Berlin long enough to unload 128 bags of flour and then we would fly back to Rhein Main to get some more," said Halvorsen.

"I walked to the edge of Tempelhof Airport to take pictures of the planes landing and departing. I noticed a silent group of German children standing next to the barbed wire fence watching me."

Halvorsen said he talked to the children for about an hour. "When I finally turned to leave, it occurred to me that there was something different about these children."

"Everywhere else I had been — Great Britain, Africa, South America — children recognized Americans and would run up to me and ask for candy or gum."

These children were patched clothes and didn't get enough food to eat, but they never asked me for anything. They seemed grateful for what "Operation Vittles" brought them."

Halvorsen said he found two pieces of gum in his pocket, broke them in half and passed them to the children through the fence. "I was amazed, they didn't fight or push or shove over the gum."

The four children who had taken the gum unwrapped the pieces carefully and passed the wrapper around. The other children had been deer-light on their faces just to smell the wrapper."

At this time, candy was a black market item. "Women would do a whole week's laundry just for a candy bar," Halvorsen said.

"With only 30 cents, I could get a piece of gum for all of these children. But I knew that I would probably never have time to visit again."

"I told them to stand in a clearing near the airport and I would drop little parachutes with candy attached to them," he said.

The military could only purchase a certain amount of gum and candy. "I bought all I could on my ration card," said Halvorsen. "I asked my copilot and flight engineer to donate their rations."

He put the candy bars and gum in three handkerchief parachutes. When he saw the children on the field he wiggled his wings back and forth so the children would recognize him.

The kids just about went crazy and I dropped the candy through the flare chute behind the pilot's seat."

"It was against regulations, and I was afraid that I would get caught and court-martialed. I was not going to drop any more after this first trip."

"My buddies in the squadron heard about the trip and started leaving their candy and gum rations on my bed. So I continued to make the parachutes and drop them until I got caught. My trips became known as 'Operation Little Vittles.'"

The colonel called me in and when he said he had received a phone call from the general, I knew I was in trouble. One of my parachutes almost hit a newspaper reporter and 'Operation Little Vittles' made the front page."

The general had actually called to congratulate the squadron for such a noble goodwill gesture."

See CANDYBOMBER on page 8

Assistant Dean of Student Life Gail Halvorsen dropped candy by parachute to German children during World War II. His flights became known as "Operation Little Vittles."

Volunteers sought to teach scouts during '84 powwow

Four hundred students will be needed as instructors for the 1984 Scout Merit Badge Powwow. The powwow is sponsored by BYU and Utah Technical College in cooperation with the Utah National Parks Council.

The event will provide 3,000 Boy Scouts from the Utah National Parks Council with the opportunity to earn merit badges in more than 80 areas, including architecture, art, first aid, genealogy, journalism, swimming and wilderness survival.

Wilford J. Tolman, powwow chairman of instructors, said each volunteer will be teaching the Saturday morning classes from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., Nov. 3, 10, and 17. Classes on Nov. 10 will be scheduled from 8 to 11 a.m. to avoid conflict with the football game.

"We need two instructors for every class, so we are suggesting the volunteers get a friend to teach with them. "We want to stress that you don't need to be an expert to teach a class."

The Double Barrel

Order any 12" or 16" two item pizza we'll double the toppings FREE!
Order 4 toppings, we'll make it 8 — or a Combo!
With any 12" pizza get a quart of pop for only 19¢
Order any 16" pizza and get two quarts of pop for 19¢
We'll sail to you FREE!

Captain Kirk's Pizza 377-4833

Lost & Found Sale and Auction

Saturday, October 27, 1984

10:00 a.m.-12:00 Noon

Main Ballroom — ELWC

(Auction begins at 10:30 a.m.)

Manning Auction Service

Gary Manning

Key Manning

Lost articles are stored for two months so your recently lost items will not be sold at the coming sale.

- Some helpful hints are:
- Have all your names clearly printed on all your belongings.
 - When buying a used book, cross out the previous names & print your name in it immediately.
 - Never leave your belongings unattended in the library or other areas.
 - When items are found they should be promptly sent to the L&F Dept.

Provo will not sue over water rights

PROVO (AP) — Provo city officials have decided not to sue the Central Utah Water Conservancy over Provo River water rights and instead will try to discuss their differences with the district board of directors.

The City Council met Wednesday night with Provo Metropolitan Water District Manager Wayne Hillier and water conservancy district President Don Christensen to discuss their disagreements.

After the meeting officials said they were confident they could resolve the problem without a lawsuit.

Council Chairman Charles Henson said a lawsuit could be avoided if a compromise or contract is established that guarantees the city ownership of Provo River water rights. "Provo City doesn't need another lawsuit and the Central Utah Project doesn't need a lawsuit either," he said.

Hillier used most of the meeting to discuss why the city believes it owns Provo Canyon to Utah Lake. He quoted from legal documents dating back to the turn of the century, when the city's water rights to the river were also in question.

One legal document he quoted from repeatedly is known as the Morse Deed, named after the judge who issued it in the early 1900s. It grants the city rights to Provo River water. He quoted from another judge who said more than 60 years ago that the city has "a duty" to preserve its water rights for future use.

"We need to hang on to our water rights," Hillier said. "If we don't, we'll be in a situation where we (will) wish we had."

Hillier said the CUP board is all questioning whether the city is able to put all its additional available water to "beneficial" use. Hillier said the city's water rights could be in jeopardy if the board succeeds in claiming rights to the water.

"If we let the Jordanelle Reservoir be built, I'm absolutely certain we'll lose our water rights," Hillier said. "It's absolutely imperative to have our rights settled before the construction of that reservoir."

He said Provo could lease its water to the CUP for a 20- to 30-year period, as long as the city's ownership rights are understood.

Christensen said Provo's claim to Provo River water rights is new to him, and other board members "don't have a clear enough understanding" of the issue.

He said the CUP board has followed advice of its attorneys and "we have been assured that all rights are secured."

The Pie Has It All!

Over 30 Item Salad Bar!

The Pie Pizzeria
1445 N. Canyon Rd.
373-1600

Attorneys need credibility to win cases, justice says

By NAOMI HORNE
Universe Staff Writer

A lawyer needs to establish credibility to win his cases, a member of the Utah Supreme Court told BYU law students Thursday.

"It's your duty to win the case," said Michael Zimmerman who replaced Elder Dallin H. Oaks as a Supreme Court Justice in July after Elder Oaks was called as a member of the LDS Council of Twelve.

A lawyer should write clear and complete briefs and make controlled oral presentations, Zimmerman said.

"If someone does 10 good presentations and one bad one, I'm going to remember the awful one. You have credibility with the court to lose," he said.

The lawyer needs to do a good job writing his brief, a summary of the case, he said.

"If it's well done you develop a presumption of credibility."

Submitting an appendix with a brief is a good idea. It is not yet a requirement, but it will become one after Jan. 1, 1985.

Less than one in 100 briefs submitted now contains all the relevant information and explanations, something quite irritating to most judges.

"If you make a shorthand reference and you don't quote a rule, I'm not terribly overwhelmed by the brief," Zimmerman said.

When a case is reviewed by the state Supreme Court, the brief is only read once by four of the five judges, he said. It therefore needs to be clear and persuasive and contain all the necessary information on the first reading.

The writer of the brief also needs to keep his audience in mind.

"Lawyers get so embroiled in a case that they assume everyone knows everything that has to do with that case," Zimmerman said. "Then they have a tendency to write from that level of understanding."

It is also important to be candid in the fact statement. Resist the temptation to slant the facts, he said. "It's a temptation but it's suicide. It really is."

Another pitfall is depending on citations and quotations rather than on logical arguments.

"The logic of your position, which is supported at critical points by other cases, is what is going to persuade," Zimmerman said. "Don't quote something unless you can't say it better yourself."

"Your aim is to answer questions, not get up and read your brief. As a lawyer, that's your chance to make sure the court doesn't misunderstand your case," he said.

A lawyer should avoid becoming hostile or upset. "Some lawyers don't like to be questioned," he said. "You may not like to be questioned but your job is to win the case."

"You may not like to be questioned but your job is to win the case."

"You may not like to be questioned but your job is to win the case."

"You may not like to be questioned but your job is to win the case."

"You may not like to be questioned but your job is to win the case."

"You may not like to be questioned but your job is to win the case."

"You may not like to be questioned but your job is to win the case."

"You may not like to be questioned but your job is to win the case."

"You may not like to be questioned but your job is to win the case."

"You may not like to be questioned but your job is to win the case."

"You may not like to be questioned but your job is to win the case."

"You may not like to be questioned but your job is to win the case."

"You may not like to be questioned but your job is to win the case."

"You may not like to be questioned but your job is to win the case."

Charlie

LOVE SONG

BASED ON THE BOOK BY JACK WEYLAND

PRODUCER/COMPOSER LEX DE AZEVEDO

FRI. OCT. 26, SAT. 27, & MON. 29

ALL SEATS THIS WEEK ONLY $4.00

CALL 487-3221 FOR MORE INFORMATION AND GROUP DISCOUNTS

8:00 P.M. ACADEMY SQUARE THEATRE

TICKETS AVAILABLE AT

ZCMI	DESERET BOOK	PROVO
UNIVERSITY MALL	UNIVERSITY MALL	MISSION BOOKSTORE
OREM	OREM	EDGEMONT PLAZA & 148 N. 100 W. PROVO

Break through to the 1984-85 BYU Services and Directory!

Soaring to you this coming week is The 1984-85 BYU Services and Directory! This book offers pages and pages of phone numbers for students, faculty and staff, department offices, and campus services. Campus events, a campus map, and informative ads are other great features found in The Services and Directory. On-campus delivery to offices and dorms will be Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 29-30. Watch for more information on pickup for off-campus housing next week!

THE DAILY UNIVERSE

SPORTS

Cougars crush UNM 48-0

By MARGARET HAMMERLAND
Universe Sports Writer

Despite a promise from New Mexico head football coach Joe Lee Dunn that his team was going to do a lot of different things, fourth-ranked BYU humiliated the Lobos on Thursday night, shutting out UNM 48-0.

"They just outclassed us," Dunn said. "I don't even think we're in the same league."

New Mexico ran out on the field sporting gaudy all-red uniforms, but that was the only surprise the Lobos were able to spring on the Cougars.

Continuing the nation's longest winning streak, the Cougars have 19 straight victories overall, and have 18 consecutive Western Athletic Conference wins. BYU has an 8-0 record this year.

The only time the Lobos even came close to scoring was on their first drive of the game. After a 59-yard march to the BYU 21, an incomplete pass on third-and-nine forced UNM to go for a field goal. The 38-yard attempt was wide to the left.

BYU was also forced to go for a field goal on their first offensive drive — or so it seemed. The 37-yard Lee Johnson kick was successful, but the play was nullified when the Cougars accepted a roughing the kicker penalty on New Mexico.

With a first-and-goal at the 10, BYU took three plays to score on an 8-yard pass from Robbie Bosco to Glen Koslowki.

New Mexico came up with some of the more interesting defenses the Cougars have faced this season — one-man fronts, two-man fronts, and a variety of stunts and blitzes.

"I've never seen goofier schemes than that in all my years in coaching," said BYU outside linebacker coach

Ken Schmidt.

Unfortunately for the Lobos, most of their attempts to blitz BYU failed. "They did a lot of things tonight trying to fool us," Koslowki said. "When they did blitz, Robbie killed them."

The Cougars moved ahead by 10 when Lee Johnson put in a 27-yard field goal with 3:02 remaining in the second quarter.

The Cougars got fired up after Vai Sikehema faked out several Lobo defenders, returning a punt 47 yards for a touchdown. Even Coach LaVell Edwards smiled on the sidelines.

The Cougars scored once more before the end of a first half on a 2-yard run to the right side by Lakot Helmuli. Lee Johnson followed up by adding another PAT to the score.

Half-time score: 24-0. (T.V.M.)

BYU exploded in the third quarter, scoring 24 points. New Mexico continued its unique defensive moves, but its best defense was the penalties against BYU. Flags were flying almost as much as footballs were.

One of New Mexico's biggest problems was injuries — they seemed to be playing a game of musical quarterbacks. Todd Williamson started the game, replacing starting quarterback Buddy Funk, who suffered a broken leg against Colorado State two weeks ago. Williamson went out in the second half because of a broken thumb, and was replaced by Billy Ruckey — who was replaced by freshman Barry Garrison in the fourth quarter.

ESPN, which telecast the game nationally, hoped to have a close match-up. By the fourth quarter, University Stadium was nearly deserted.

"I'd say about the middle of the third quarter, most people turn their TVs off," Schmidt said.

BYU took 56 players to New Mexico — and all 56 played. Starters changed out of their uniforms and relaxed on the bench in sweats during the fourth quarter.

The defense was especially pleased about the shutout.

"That's one of the greatest wins this year," said Leon White.

The Cougars return home to face Texas-E Paso on Nov. 3 at 1:30 p.m. New Mexico must try to regroup before heading to Waco, Texas, to battle the Baylor Bears.

Lady cagers picked to win HCAC crown

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — Defending champion BYU is the preseason favorite to win the High Country Athletic Conference women's basketball title again this year.

The coaches' poll tabs New Mexico and Utah to tie for second and conference newcomer Utah State under new coach Bob Corbin to finish fourth.

The coaches predicted Wyoming will be fifth and Colorado State and New Mexico State will tie for sixth.

NFL may try quarterback helmet radios

The National Football League may try out radio-equipped helmets to help quarterbacks communicate with wide receivers in noisy stadiums, Commissioner Pete Rozelle says.

He said the league may experiment with such helmets during the 1985 preseason games.

Lakot Helmuli runs over New Mexico's Jeff Apodaca for 141 yards and scored two touchdowns as the Cougars scored their first shutout since 1982.

Game stats

BYU	7	17	24	0	48
UNM	0	0	0	0	0
BYU — Koslowki 7 pass from Bosco (Johnson kick)
BYU — FG Johnson 27
BYU — Sikehema 47 punt return (Johnson kick)
BYU — Helmuli 2 run (Johnson kick)
BYU — Helmuli 33 run (Johnson kick)
BYU — FG Johnson 27
BYU — Koslowki 10 pass from Bosco (Johnson kick)
BYU — Koslowki 3 pass from Bosco (Rossi kick)
A — 19-27

	BYU	UNM
First downs	29	13
Rushes-yards	46-217	51-116
Passing yards	240	98
Return yards	86	0
Plays	21-32-0	9-19-2
Fumbles-lost	5-1	7-5
Penalties-yards	11-99	9-65
Time of possession	31:06	28:54

INDIVIDUAL LEADERS
RUSHING — BYU, Helmuli 33-141. New Mexico, Turrisi 14-49.
PASSING — BYU, Bosco 19-29-0-227. Fowler 2-3-0-11. New Mexico, Williamson 3-8-1-17.
RECEIVING — BYU, Koslowki 10-122. Smith 3-34. Belton 3-48. New Mexico, Whitehead 3-36.

The Pie Has It All!

Great Breakfasts!

The Pie Pizzeria
1445 N. Canyon Rd.
373-1600

Prospective Missionary

College Dental Clinic will conduct free Pre-mission exams (include x-rays) that fulfill church requirements. Saturday, October 27th 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Call 374-0202 for appointment or walk in.

Dr. Day and Dr. Molen

Change Your Pumpkin Into Cash In The Classifieds.

Y netters blast Weber 9-0 in first home match

The BYU women's tennis team claimed a decisive victory Wednesday by blanking Weber State 9-0 in their first home match.

BYU junior Lesley Fox was the first to gain victory, winning 6-2, 6-1 in only 40 minutes at the No. 3 singles position.

The only encouraging play by the Wildcats was Marianne Hausken. Hausken was the only Wildcat to win a set over BYU's Jennifer Stoker 6-4. However, Stoker came back to win the match 6-0, 4-6, 6-1.

"The first set came so easy that I lost my concentration," said Stoker.

No. 1 singles Lesley Hakala was back for the first time since laid up by an illness and did well against Anna Gunnarsson from Sweden.

This was the first day back for Lesley after an illness, and I was pleased she could play so well against Gunnarsson, who is a very, very good player."

377-7577
835 N. 700 E., Provo

CHRISTMAS FLIGHTS AT DISCOUNT PRICES
NOW OPEN SATURDAYS 9:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.
WEDNESDAYS 9:30 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

DALLAS $258	CHICAGO $300
WASH. D.C. $320	DENVER $100
NEW YORK $360	ST. LOUIS $280
KANSAS CITY $200	MINNEAPOLIS $270

AND MORE
CALL FOR DETAILS

Freeway Pizza

Fast, Free Delivery
(in limited areas)

Open Daily:
Mon.-Thurs., 4:30-11 p.m.
Fri. and Sat. 12:00 noon-1 a.m.

Drinks: Diet Caffeine-Free Coke, Root Beer, Sprite, & Orange

30 MINUTES AWAY

Drinks: Diet Caffeine-Free Coke, Root Beer, Sprite, & Orange

MENU

12" Cheese	$5.99	12" Veg	$5.99
14" Cheese	$7.99	14" Veg	$7.99
16" Cheese	$9.99	16" Veg	$9.99
18" Cheese	$11.99	18" Veg	$11.99

OUR SUPER CHEESE PIZZA
12" Cheese — $5.99
14" Cheese — $7.99

Free delivery available on all orders of 12" or more. Minimum delivery charge $3.00. Delivery charge $1.00 per order. Delivery charge $1.00 per order.

Friday

ANY 12" pizza plus 1 qt. of pop for $7.25 to first 50 callers

all coupon offers with double cheese offer expires Nov. 24th, 1984

Ghostbusters

Large combo and 2 qts. of pop. for $11.00

all coupon offers with double cheese offer expires Nov. 24th, 1984

16" 3-item Pizza only $8.50

double cheese offer expires Nov. 24th, 1984

Friday

ANY 16" pizza plus 1 qt. of pop for $10.25 to first 100 callers

all coupon offers with double cheese offer expires Nov. 24th, 1984

2.00 OFF

Any 16" pizza (2-item min.) plus 1 quart of pop free

all coupon offers with double cheese offer expires Nov. 24th, 1984

16" 2-item Pizza plus a qt. of pop for only $7.70 value of $11.75

all coupon offers with double cheese offer expires Nov. 24th, 1984

Late Night Special

From 9 to closing any 12" 2 item pizza and 1 qt. of pop for $5.75

all coupon offers with double cheese offer expires Nov. 24th, 1984

Monday Only

Buy any 16" two item pizza and get a 12" 1 item pizza free

all coupon offers with double cheese offer expires Nov. 24th, 1984

12" combo plus 1 qt. of pop for $8.00

all coupon offers with double cheese offer expires Nov. 24th, 1984

Springville
489-7777 or 489-7577

Spanish Fork & Payson
798-9872

Pleasant Grove
785-7777 or 785-7775

Orem/Provo (5 minutes from BYU)
225-7577

no charge on local checks

Please ask us the time
If over 30 minutes — it's FREE no questions asked

LIFESTYLE

FLICK FLACK

The Daily Universe, under the title of "Flick Flack," publishes synopses of movies shown in local theaters and on campus. Movies listed are not necessarily endorsed by the Daily Universe.

ALL OF ME (PG) — Steve Martin portrays an attorney, Robert Seltzer, who is assigned to advise a rich, dying lady, Linda Catwiler, played by Lily Tomlin. She has planned to have her soul transferred into the body of her ex-husband's daughter by a Far Eastern mystic. Boga's body instead.

THE KARATE KID (PG) — Excellent. The title is misleading, and the story is much better than one can imagine from the name. The plot revolves around a teenager who moves into a new area and the problems he encounters. A "type movie" production.

IRRECONCILABLE DIFFERENCES (PG) — Drew Barrymore saw her parents, Ryan O'Neal and Shirley Long, for a divorce, causing a rift in the family. The film is a tear-jerker.

PLACES IN THE HEART (PG) — Sally Field plays a widowed cotton farmer in this drama that explores American farm life. Production.

THE BEAR (PG) — A biopic about a bear named Bryant, one of the winningest football coaches in sports history, with a reputation for being a tough coach. Performance from Gary Busey. Production.

THE RAZOR'S EDGE (PG-13) — Bill Murray, in his first straight dramatic role, takes on a remake of the Tyrone Power film, based on Somerset Maugham's classic novel about a WWI veteran searching for the meaning of life. Violence, sex, profanity.

INDIANA JONES AND THE TEMPLE OF DOOM (PG) — Incredibly entertaining and packed with stunts and action. As exciting as " Raiders of the Lost Ark." Action is set before the " Raiders" events. Starring Harrison Ford with a new cast. Violence, profanity.

FIRSTBORN (PG-13) — Teri Garr plays a single parent who marries, unstable Peter Walker, but whose children can make her see how dangerous he is. A thriller, of course. Violence, profanity.

COUNTRY (PG) — A film starring Jessica Lange and Sam Shepard about the plight of farmers in their over expectations drop year after year, and the will of a family to stay together. Violence, profanity.

AMERICAN DREAMER (PG) — American housewife Jessica Williams who writing contest and finds herself in Paris, involved in all kinds of intrigue in this comedy. Co-starring Tom Cull. Violence, sex, nudity, profanity.

A SOLDIER'S STORY (PG) — A black sergeant is murdered stateside during WWII in segregated black Army base in the South. Unscripted, the military lawyer from Washington who helps up to investigate is also black. Howard Rollins has a superb cast in this probing study of the many levels of racism, based within the trappings of a murder mystery. Violence, profanity.

Two Final Performances
Before the show retires
Sat., Oct. 27 & Mon., Oct. 29
Timpview H.S. Auditorium
650 E. 1500 N., Provo

Exciting LDS Musical

IT'S A MIRACLE

Show time 8 p.m.

Tickets $6 adults $5 Children available at Deseret Book: University Mall
Timp Book: 858 S. State, Orem
Day's Thriftway: 3121 Canyon Rd.

Bring this ad to save $1
PER TICKET — SAT. SHOW ONLY

MANN 4

PROVO—374-8325
1230 NORTH 230 WEST

Places In The Heart
Daily: 4:30, 7:00, and 9:45

Mel Brooks' YOUNG FRANKENSTEIN
Midnight Show Friday and Saturday all seats $3.00

CARILLON SQ. 4 OREM—224-5112
200 E. 1300 SOUTH

Grand Street (PG)
American Housewife

Soldier's Story (PG)
2:00, 4:30, 7:15, 9:30

First Born (PG-13)
1:30, 4:15, 7:00, 9:45

Midnight Show Friday & Saturday all seats $3.00
MICHAEL KEATON
TERI GARR
MR. MOM

MANN 4 OREM—374-8061
175 NORTH 2ND WEST

American Dreamer 4:30, 7:00, 9:30 (PG)

ACADEMY PROVO—373-4476
1000 UNIVERSITY

The Razors Edge 4:30, 7:00, 9:45 (PG-13)

Lee and Linda Wakefield, the U.S. Professional Theatrical Dance Champions, perform the Latin rumba during one of the BYU Ballroom Dance Company Performances. The Wakefields are the artistic directors for the group. Their recent performance on the "Star Search" television program will be aired Sunday.

Lee and Linda Wakefield experience 'Star Search'

By MARNI BELL
Universe Staff Writer

Ed McMahon and crew searched for stars and found BYU's Lee and Linda Wakefield, who will appear on "Star Search" on Sunday on Channel 20.

The Wakefields, current U.S. Professional Theatrical Arts Champions, were selected from 20,000 people who auditioned to perform their interpretive style of ballroom dance on the television show.

"Star Search" selects acts through an audition process. The crew visited major regional cities including Atlanta, New York, Chicago and various cities in California where they advertised and held auditions. They chose people, videotaped them and selected the final performers from that.

Selected by videotape
Lee said he and his wife were not selected that way because there were no auditions in this area. Instead, they sent a videotape to the company last March of three acts they had performed here in Provo.

The scouts selected acts in various divisions including male actor, female actress, musical group, male vocalist, female vocalist and dance group. The Wakefields were one of two acts picked to compete in the dance division.

On Sept. 12 they were told they would perform in eight days. Lee said they had to scramble to get the required music to the company on such short notice.

They also had to have their costumes in early to be cleared. They wanted to wear the white costumes they already had, but white was not allowed because it is difficult to film on TV if the subjects are moving.

ing. They resorted to blue, which works well on camera.

Lee had to order new suits from his tailor in London and Linda's dressmaker in Los Angeles had to make two new chiffon dresses in three days. Lee said, "We were frantically getting ready."

Lee and Linda performed a lyrical or interpretive style of ballroom dance to "The Impossible Dream," which they have done at BYU. The style of dance includes many lifts, spins and tricks.

Instead of doing a contemporary dance, they chose not to change their usual style. "We decided we should not try to conform because we wanted to do what we do best," said Lee.

Filming process familiar
The Wakefields were filmed in the Aquarius Theater on Sunset Boulevard in Hollywood. Lee said they had already performed for television a number of times, so the filming process for "Star Search" was not entirely foreign to them.

"There are certain things you have to do to accommodate the television. You have to follow rehearsal schedules and remain in your restricted areas, but we were used to these demands," said Lee.

The Wakefields mostly interacted with the production staff. Lee said other times they have been filmed it has been confusing. However, he said the people from "Star Search" were organized and always told them what was expected of them as performers. The show was "professionally run," said Lee.

The production staff told the performers that 93 percent of the televisions in the United States receive "Star Search," so that knowledge put some pressure on Lee and Linda. Lee said, "Knowing we were going to be in front of all of those people made it a little more difficult than usual." He said when they performed they were so concerned about the dance that other things going on around them went unnoticed. "We only had one minute and a half to do it and do it right," said Lee.

When asked about pre-show jitters, he said a performer should always be a little nervous. If he is not nervous, he is probably not in the correct frame of mind. "Even the most experienced actors, singers or any entertainers should have a certain amount of anxiety before stepping out on stage."

Potential is key
The purpose of "Star Search" is to expose people to the entertainment industry. It is literally producing stars, Lee said. The judging was not done just on the basis of dance ability and execution, but more on star potential and star quality.

An actress who performed on the program and won the overall competition in her division is now on the soap opera "General Hospital," and a comedian who won a few times is now appearing in Las Vegas.

The judges awarded the Wakefields a three on a scale of one to four, four being the highest. This tied them for first place. In the case of a tie, the judging was turned over to the voting audience, which placed the Wakefields second. The first-place winners were a couple who performed a tap dancing routine.

They wanted to win in their division on "Star Search," but winning the U.S. Professional Theatrical Arts competition in New York where they performed just a few weeks later was more important, according to Lee. The Wakefields goal for the immediate future is to continue to gain exposure through national competition.

The Pie Has It All!

Best Pizza in the State of Utah!

The Pie Pizzeria
1445 N. Canyon Rd.
373-1600

Film Society Presents
"The Lady From Shanghai"

Fri. 5:00, 7:00, 9:00, 11:00
Sat. 6:00, 8:00, 10:00

With Orson Wells and Rita Hayworth

price — 75¢ w/Activity Card

*Be sure not to miss our Halloween movie "Mystery of the Wax Museum" in the Ballroom on the 31st. 6, 7:30, 9, & 10:30

Call in News tips
378-3630

WE HAVE:
• Lowest prices in the state.
• Best equipment.
• Safest and most experienced facility in Utah.

WE MAKE IT AFFORDABLE
EVERYTHING You'll Need to make that FIRST SKYDIVE

$50

CALL TODAY
756-8198,
768-9054
or 942-4006

12th Anniversary Sale
Last Week!
20-50%

50% off
Men's rings • Diamond earrings • Diamond Socks • Green watches • Pearl

At Goldsmith Co. Jewelers
We only look expensive

Goldsmith Co. JEWELERS

100 N. University (821) 373-5222

WEEKEND SPECIALS

Call us
374-5800
65 E. 1150 North

DOMINO'S PIZZA

Offers valid with coupons only

LUNCH SPECIALS
Any 12" 1-item pizza and 2 16 oz. bottles of pop for $4.99
(Valid only between 11:30 a.m. - 4 p.m.)

DATE SPECIALS
Any 12" 1-item pizza and 2 16 oz. bottles of pop for $6.99

PARTY BLASTER
Any 16" 2-item pizza and 4 16 oz. bottles of pop for $9.99

© 1984 Domino's Pizza Inc.
PIZ
AD/SD
Expires 11-15-84
Limited free delivery areas

© 1984 Domino's Pizza Inc.
PIZ
AD/SD
Expires 11-15-84
Limited free delivery areas

© 1984 Domino's Pizza Inc.
PIZ
AD/SD
Expires 11-15-84
Limited free delivery areas

The Classified Ad Service

AD IT UP! Open: Mon-Fri 8:30-4:30 5th Floor ELWC Ph. 378-2897 BUY • SELL • TRADE • SAVE!

CLASSIFIED AD POLICY

- 3-line minimum.
- Deadline for regular Classified Ads: 11:30 a.m. 1 day prior to publication.
- Deadline for Classified Display: 4:00 p.m. 3 days prior to publication.

Every effort will be made to protect your ad from being lost or delayed. We will not be responsible for any loss of ad space or for any delay in publication.

Read your ad carefully before it is placed. It is important to check for errors and to make any necessary corrections as soon as possible.

Advertisements are accepted on a cash basis. Payment must be made in advance.

Cash Rates - Minimum insertion: 1 day, 3 lines: $3.00

2 day, 3 lines: 5.00
3 day, 3 lines: 6.00
4 day, 3 lines: 7.00
5 day, 3 lines: 8.00
6 day, 3 lines: 9.00
7 day, 3 lines: 10.00

10 day, 3 lines: 12.00
15 day, 3 lines: 15.00
30 day, 3 lines: 25.00

1-Monthly
FREE DENTAL EXAMINATIONS
DR. J. J. AYERS, D.D.S.
2000 S. Benton, 225-2210

GOOD SELECTION of used textbooks, U.S. Children. All books $25.00. We will not be undersold. Pioneer Books, 722 Columbia St., JF7-5650.

RESUMES
Seniors get the edge on top jobs with a professional resume. 783-5894.

FREE DENTAL EXAMINATIONS
DR. J. J. AYERS, D.D.S.
2000 S. Benton, 225-2210

COLLEGE SWEATSHIRTS
Hooded, V-neck, crew neck.
Dartmouth, Boston College,
UNC, UCLA, Stanford, Notre Dame, others. $15.95, postpaid. In delivery. 377-3333.

HONEYMOON TRAVELERS
DR. J. J. AYERS, D.D.S.
2000 S. Benton, 225-2210

3-Infant & Training GUITAR-Dan-Bajo rock group. 225-2210.

CLASSIFIED AD DIRECTORY

- 15 Personal
- 16 Real Estate
- 17 Insurance
- 18 Automotive
- 19 Business
- 20 Health
- 21 Education
- 22 Entertainment
- 23 Services
- 24 Miscellaneous
- 25 Classified

26 Health Insurance

27 Insurance

28 Automotive

29 Business

30 Health

31 Education

32 Entertainment

33 Services

34 Miscellaneous

35 Classified

36 Health Insurance

37 Insurance

38 Automotive

39 Business

40 Health

41 Education

42 Entertainment

43 Services

44 Miscellaneous

45 Classified

46 Health Insurance

47 Insurance

48 Automotive

49 Business

50 Health

51 Education

52 Entertainment

53 Services

54 Miscellaneous

55 Classified

56 Health Insurance

57 Insurance

58 Automotive

59 Business

60 Health

61 Education

62 Entertainment

63 Services

64 Miscellaneous

5-Insurance Agencies

HEALTH INSURANCE AND MATERNITY BENEFITS

We tailor make our policies to fit your individual needs. We also fit your individual needs. We also take care in giving you plenty of time of complete understanding of duties, length of service, accommodations, privileges, vacations, etc. Call: John or Jackie anytime. 255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

7-Domestic Help, Out of State

CALL US FIRST

Free Service for MOTHERS' HELPERS

We select the best families & women to work in their homes. We also take care in giving you plenty of time of complete understanding of duties, length of service, accommodations, privileges, vacations, etc. Call: John or Jackie anytime. 255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

7-Domestic Help, Out of State

MOTHERS' HELPERS

We select the best families & women to work in their homes. We also take care in giving you plenty of time of complete understanding of duties, length of service, accommodations, privileges, vacations, etc. Call: John or Jackie anytime. 255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

11-Diet & Nutrition

LOSE WEIGHT naturally

Guaranteed to lose weight or your money back. Call: Linda or Jackie anytime. 255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

18-Furn. Apts. for Rent

EXC. APT. by MTC. Male students

Guaranteed to lose weight or your money back. Call: Linda or Jackie anytime. 255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

255-1251

</

Stargazers pursue answers

By DEAN C. BARRY
Senior Reporter

Research on galaxies and stars continues to reach new heights at the observatories of BYU.

According to D.H. McNamara, a professor of physics and astronomy, there are two observatories and a planetarium where research can be done.

One observatory is on West Mountain, 15 miles southwest of Provo on the south end of Utah Lake, and another observatory and a planetarium are in the Eyring Science Center.

According to McNamara, West Mountain Observatory is used primarily for research by faculty members and graduate students, but elementary astronomy classes also use the facility. "Most of the research is done on West Mountain because it is above the smoke and there is a very dark sky," he said.

"Right now," he said, "the research being done is setting up photometric standard stars analyzing light and color curves of variable stars and investigating the ages and distances of star clusters."

According to McNamara, "We do research to extend our knowledge of the understanding of the basic phenomena of the universe."

McNamara said BYU has made significant progress on a number of programs they have studied. The observatory in the Eyring Science Center is used for astronomy classes.

Saron Alexander, a graduate student from Paradise, Calif., majoring in physics and astronomy, is studying a pulsating star on the outer fringes of the galaxy.

A stargazer uses a powerful telescope to study stars millions of light years away. This research provides answers about our own galaxy.

According to Alexander, the star, called B.L. Hercules, is an estimated 32,000 light years away and is five to seven times bigger than the sun.

Alexander said the purpose in studying this star is to measure its size relative to how bright it is. "Not much more has been done on this type of star," he said.

This star is 13 times fainter than any star one would be able to see with the naked eye.

Scott B. Johnson, a senior from Minot, N.D., majoring in physics and astronomy, is studying a galaxy approximately 2.5 million light years away.

According to Johnson, the galaxy is called M33 and is far beyond our galaxy. Johnson said his purpose in studying this galaxy so far away is to determine how much light is getting absorbed by dust particles in our own galaxy. "By studying this we can determine how bright the galaxy really is and can actually get a better indication of how big the known universe is," he said.

The planetarium is open to public tours every second Thursday of each month.

Hobby Shop offers break to develop creative skills

Students engaged in the pursuit of knowledge and intelligence can take a break from mind work and develop artistic skills in the workshop located in 122 ELWC.

The workshop, known as the Hobby Shop, was built for the use of students, faculty and their guests. It is equipped with power tools, hand tools and the basic supplies needed for woodworking.

Max Behling, manager of the Hobby Shop, said people can make anything from little trinkets, to one guy who made a wood body for his car. He said several students have made waterbeds and one student, after learning how to use a lathe, even made a four-poster bed.

The personnel who work in the Hobby Shop are well experienced and can provide help and instructions for those who are unfamiliar with using the equipment. Behling said, "There are even books you can look at to get ideas of what to make," he said.

With Christmas approaching, Behling said the Hobby Shop will stay busy from now until the end of the year, as students and faculty take advantage of the facilities to make gifts.

6 inch Plant 350
WITH THE COUPON
AND GET ANY 4 inch Plant
McCauley's GREENHOUSES
Mon.-Fri. 9 to 6
Saturday 10 to 6
400 S. State, Provo 375-3304

AT-A-GLANCE

All submissions to At-A-Glance must be received by noon the day before publication.
All items must be double-spaced and typed on an 8 1/2-by-11-inch sheet of paper. Items will not be published for more than three consecutive days in the submissions of a commercial nature, or which advertise activities resulting in remuneration to anyone will not be accepted for publication.
Pre-Med Students—A meeting to inform students of a USAF Health Professional Scholarship Program (HPSF) will be Nov. 1 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in 256 and 257 ELWC.

Outdoors Unlimited—Spend a spooky weekend in Goblin Valley Friday and Saturday sponsored by Outdoors Unlimited. Sign up in 108 ELWC.

Women's Office Lecture—Dr. Nancy Reeves, lead scholar and pioneer in the women's movement, will speak Monday afternoon at 12:40 in 161 TNB.

Pumpkin Carving—Provo City Parks and Recreation Department will be holding its family pumpkin carving contest Saturday at 10 a.m. at Pioneer Park, 500 W. 1000 N. For more information or to pre-register call 375-1822, Ext. 502.

Pioneer Bazaar—Homemade gifts and baked goods will be a feature of the Pioneer Bazaar Monday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Orem building.

Sub-for-Santa—Get the Christmas spirit. Applications are being accepted for supervisor positions for Sub-for-Santa. Come to 431 ELWC or call Keri at 373-2861 for more information.

Free Genealogy Classes—Folklore, Swedish research and LDS records are topics for free genealogy classes at BYU Sunday. The classes begin at 11 a.m., 2:30 p.m. and 4 p.m., respectively. All classes are on the fourth floor HBLL Washington Seminar—Applications for the Spring and Summer terms are due Nov. 1. Excellent internship opportunities are available. Hurry and apply now. For more information contact Washington Seminar at Ext. 6029.

For All Artists—Today is the last day to register for Fall Art Extravaganza—a student art show and sale. Pick up applications in 429 ELWC.

Challenge Exams—The challenge examination for German 101 will be given Tuesday at 2 p.m. in 4073 JKH. The challenge exam for German 201 will be given Thursday at 3 p.m. in 4073 JKH. Special examination forms may be picked up in 4096 JKH.

WET CUT Student Special
No Appointment Necessary
Open Evenings - 224-7222
$6.00
1300 S. State, Orem
East End of Grand Central Mall
Command Performance

Introduce yourself with flowers!
600 S. University Ave. 375-8006
Look for the Garden!

Rockin' Out Special
Cookie Tree
Fast & Free Delivery 1 p.m.-11 p.m. anywhere in Provo.
377-9881
With any combo pizza you get 1/2 dozen cookies FREE.
Expires 11/25

16" 2 item & 2 qts. of pop $8.99 Expires 11/25	12" 2 item & 1 qt. of pop $6.99 Expires 11/25
--	---

Some cities in Utah County are protected by the hour

By CINDY R. ANDERSON
Universe Staff Writer

Several small cities and a government organization do not have their own police force. These cities contact the Utah County Sheriff's Office to hire police by an hourly rate when needed.

The cities that hire police are Elk Ridge, (near Spanish Fork), Genola, (near Payson and Santaquin) and Cedar Hills, (near Pleasant Grove and Lindon). The United States Forest Service also has a contract with Utah County Police.

"The Forest Service has funding available to pay for local law enforcement. We have had a contract with them for approximately ten years," said Utah County Sheriff Mack Holley.

The Forest Service uses the extra police coverage mainly on holidays and some weekends. "They tell us where to go and pay an hourly rate as well as a rental fee on the vehicles used," Holley said.

Genola and Cedar Hills each have one full-time officer on call 24 hours a day, according to Holley. Elk Ridge has no individual police force at all. "We have a contract with all three cities to provide certain law enforcement that they request and then we bill them," said Holley. "It doesn't amount to much in revenue for us, but having a contract with them is the only way we can legally help out."

Utah County Police provide coverage for the officers in Genola and Cedar Hills, "when they have to be out of town for seminars or other reasons," said Holley. "In that case, we send an officer in to cover the area until the city's officer is able to take over again."

If one of the officers requests assistance while he is on duty, there is no charge. "We have a Mutual Aid agreement with all police agencies in Utah County," said Holley.

The county also takes care of patrolling the Elk Ridge area by using a few of the officers who reside in Elk Ridge watch out for the area.

Temple to close early
The Provo Temple will be closed a week earlier than usual in December for extensive remodeling purposes, said Leland Friday, temple president.

The temple is normally open until Dec. 15, but due to work on the third floor of the temple involving new carpet, drapes and seating, the temple will only be open until Dec. 8. The temple will reopen Jan. 2.

This weekend at The Palace
Friday student night
$1 off with current I.D.
Utah's best video dance music

Saturday round 4 Utah's most physically fit female photos by Studio-Nine/S. Schiess

The search continues each Saturday through Nov. 10 for Utah's most physically fit female. Don't miss the most exciting aerobics competition in the state. Watch 15 fit females perform a grueling 30-minute aerobics routine. Final winner will receive 2 round-trip tickets to Acapulco from Western Airlines. Dancing begins immediately after the show.

Western Airlines Bob Barrow Karate Nautilus Free
let the music move you to Utah's hottest night spot.
501 N. 900 E. 374-9272

Life must be lived forwards, but can only be understood backwards.
Take a history class next semester.

Some good choices:
Hist. 250 Popular Culture in America 3 hrs. MWF 1 p.m.
Hist. 321 War and Peace in the Modern World 3 hrs. MWF 3:00 p.m.
Hist. 368 Mormonism in American History 3 hrs. MWF 11 a.m.
Hist. 371 The Machine in America 3 hrs. MWF 11 a.m.
Hist. 384 Women and the American Experience 3 hrs. TTH 1 to 2:30 p.m.

For about 4 dozen other good options, see the Winter Semester Schedule.

Susan B. Anthony
19th Century caricature

Candybomber at Y

Continued from page 3

He became known as "Uncle Wiggly Wings," "The Bon-Bon Bomber" and "The Chocolate Flyer."

Holvorsen said, "Letters from the children began to come with maps and directions to their houses so I would know where to drop the candy."

"Even children from East Berlin would write and say 'We don't like the Russians either' and tell me to drop some candy to them."

The United States soon heard about "Operation Little Vittles" and started sending candy, gum and handkerchiefs. Holvorsen would receive three to four bags of mail every other day.

Women's clubs got together to assemble parachutes, he said. "Radio stations developed campaigns to get people to send more handkerchiefs."

"Press releases would emphasize the fact that I was a bachelor to encourage women to send handkerchiefs. Women sent perfume handkerchiefs, lace handkerchiefs, . . . all kinds of handkerchiefs poured in."

The people in Chicago Falls, Mass., used an old firehouse to form an assembly line. They made parachutes and shipped them to Holvorsen.

"We had to get a map of West Berlin and figure out where all the parks and schoolyards were so we could drop the parachutes there because the airfield was getting dangerously crowded with children."

"I'd estimate that by December, we had dropped 90,000 miniature candy chutes throughout Berlin. It had become a massive operation," he said.

Holvorsen met with the president of the American Confettioners Association during a brief visit to the United States in the fall of 1948.

"When he asked me how much candy I could use, I gave him some outlandish amount. But when I flew back to Rhein Main, a military policeman escorted me to a boxcar surrounded by armed guards. Inside the car was 3,000 pounds of candy."

"The following week 3,500 pounds more arrived. The sum included contributions from the association and from cities all over the United States."

The candy filled two jail cells in the military jail and was under a 24-hour armed guard, Holvorsen said.

The 6,500 pounds of candy was too much to drop over Berlin. American authorities and the German Youth Association in West Berlin organized Christmas parties for the children.

Because the Russians had cut off the power to West Berlin, all of the parties had to be held during the day, but thousands of children turned out and the candy was distributed, Holvorsen said.

"My experience in Berlin has taught me a lot about the people and their will to survive and their fight for freedom amazed me."

"During a general election just weeks before I left, 99 out of 100 West Berliners had voted dramatically against the acceptance of Communism."

Holvorsen has been invited back by the mayor and the city of West Berlin several times to commemorate the lifting of the blockade.

He went back to Berlin in 1969. "By this time, most of the kids whom I had dropped candy to were grown and had kids of their own."

The parents had told the children about the candybomber and the kids wanted to see the candybomber in action.

"Twice a day during this commemoration, I flew over the airfield and threw parachutes to the children just like I had during the blockade."

On visits to Berlin, Holvorsen said he is recognized immediately. Germans rush up to him to talk about the blockade and his candybombling days and they ask for autographs.

Holvorsen was born in Salt Lake City and grew up on farms in Southern Idaho and Garland, Utah.

After serving as a pilot during the airfield, he continued to serve in the Air Force. From 1970 to 1974, he was commander of Tempelhof Central Airport and was the United States Air Force representative to the city of West Berlin.

Some of Holvorsen's awards include the Cheney Award for 1948 and 1949, the Medal for Humane Action, the Legion of Merit, Commendation Medal and the German Service Cross of the Order of Merit from the president of West Germany.

He has master's degrees in Aeronautical Engineering and Guidance and Counseling. He is a member of the Honorary Scholastic Society of Phi Kappa Phi and the Honorary Engineering fraternity, Sigma Tau.

Holvorsen is married to Alta-Jolley and they have five children.

Navajos contest adoption of boy by Provo couple

By LESLIE M. GANDOLA
Universe Staff Writer

A Provo couple's attempt to adopt a Navajo boy was contested by the Navajo nation in the 4th District Court.

An Indian child in a white family does not know what to do with that situation, said Dr. Samuel Role, certified clinical psychologist. Monday, Role said a cross-culture adoption is a risk, but a greater risk exists when cultural values are different.

A decision of custody by Judge David Sam is pending final arguments from the attorneys.

Dan and Patricia Carter, the couple requesting adoption, are "certainly fit parents," said Role. However, his opinion was the child would be best served raised with Indians even though his mother and stepfather have a history of instability.

The seven-year-old boy has been living with the Carters for more than four years.

Custody of an Indian child, according to the Indian Child Welfare Act, requires the permission of the mother and the tribal council of the nation involved. The boy's mother originally consented to the Navajo nation.

Later, the mother withdrew her consent.

Such an adoption is "flecked with dangers," Role said, adding that courting and dating could create serious problems during the boy's adolescent years.

Three criteria were cited by Role in deciding where a child should be placed. First, "fitness" of the natural and prospective parents is considered. Role defined fitness as being "free from certain kinds of serious disorders."

The parents' special fitness for particular needs of the child are the second consideration. There are particular bad or good matches, Role said, using a withdrawn parent and a withdrawn child as an example of a bad match.

Cultural fitness is also determined under special fitness considerations. Other criteria being equal, the child's custody should be determined on attachment or bonding, said Role. Attachment of the child is central in most cases, Role said, and important in all cases.

According to tests conducted by Role, hateful feelings and fear toward Indians are already present in the boy. The child believes he is becoming white and his children will be white.

Role disagreed that the child could be taught Navajo culture from books. He added that the most important aspects about Navajo culture cannot be written down.

DRIVE IN OREM
225-1740

TREK III

STAR THE SEARCH FOR SPOCK

PLUS 2ND BIG WIN!

TOP SECRET!

Provo Town Square

Spunk & Alley

Ghostbustin' won't do you no good!

Mon. dollar night for FHE groups

Time: 7:00-11:30 p.m.

Parking at Excelsior Hotel Garage

Use ticket as coupon (up to 20% off) at participating Provo Town Square Merchants

Entrance Fee $2.00

58 N. University

Above The Underground restaurant

KBYU documentary to look at press limits in Grenada

KBYU-TV will give viewers the opportunity to examine the validity of the restrictions imposed on the press by the Pentagon during the invasion of Grenada.

The station will broadcast "A Reporter in Grenada," narrated by Jason Roberts, Sunday at 11 a.m. on KBYU-TV.

The documentary will follow coverage of the event by Time magazine correspondent William McWhirter as he arrives on the first press plane following the invasion and pieces together what really happened.

McWhirter was awarded the Overseas Press Club's International prize for foreign reporting for his work on this story.

Additional commentary is provided by Joe Sobran of the "National Review," Ramsey Clark, Mike Wallace and Assistant Secretary of Defense Mike Burch. Another program offered by KBYU-TV will be "Russian Language and People," a series exploring the language and the culture of the Russians. It will be Saturday at 2 p.m.

The emphasis of the series is understanding written and spoken Russian. Followers of the series can become familiar with the Russian alphabet, which is taught by computer and cartoon animation and by photographs of signs common in Moscow and Leningrad.

The series consists of 20 lessons based on a documentary film shot by the British Broadcasting Company in Moscow and Leningrad. Soviet films and television programs, and a drama serial written and filmed in the U.S.S.R., by the BBC with Soviet actors and actresses.

Holvorsen is married to Alta-Jolley and they have five children.

Some students are 'high on the hog' working at swine production farm

By MICHAEL RYAN
Universe Staff Writer

Some BYU student employees are high on the hog.

BYU owns a swine production farm that is managed and run almost exclusively by students, said Robert L. Park, animal science professor and director of the farm.

"Students must make almost all decisions dealing with the farm," said Park. "The manager is a student and all employees are students. The farm's success hinges almost exclusively on them."

Pete Kjosness, a junior from East Chance, Colo., majoring in animal science reproduction, is the manager of the farm. "We work with all aspects of swine production," said Kjosness. "Sure we make mistakes, but we learn so much."

Kjosness said the students raise the pigs from birth to the time they are ready for market. "We take care of the sow while she is giving birth; we dry the piglets off after birth and clip their needle teeth so the pigs won't injure one another when they are older," he said.

Kjosness said the farm is a 75-sow operation that uses artificial insemination to a large extent as the method of fertilization. "Pigs born through artificial insemination seem to be leaner, faster growing animals," he said.

About 15 percent of the pigs produced at the farm are sold to the University of Utah and the Veterans' Hospital for research experiments.

"The Veterans' Hospital is experimenting with artificial arteries, trying to develop a process to sterilize the artery for use in humans," he said.

The University of Utah is experimenting with the use of insulin for diabetes and also with the treatment for burn abrasions.

A majority of the pigs are sold at the local market to different buyers. However, some pigs are sold to BYU to teach meat processing. Kjosness said. These ultimately end up with BYU food services in the form of sausage.

Holvorsen is married to Alta-Jolley and they have five children.

Tan Fastique Tanning Salon

TAN

New Albertson's Shopping Center

BYU Diagonal

377-0270

"Free Visit With This Coupon." One Per Customer.

THIRD DIMENSION CUTS
Styling for guys & gals

Get A Great Feeling With A Great New Look

Just A Cut only

$6.50

— No Appointment Necessary —

PARWAY VILLAGE

2255 N. University Parkway (next to Albertson's)

374-8407

The Pie Has It All!

Ice Cream Too!

The Pie Pizzeria
1445 N. Canyon Rd.
373-1600

$6.19

Medium 13"

2 Item Pizza plus 1 Qt. of Pop

Exp. Oct. 31"

Good with coupon.

$8.99

Any BROMLEY 18" (16 slices) w/cheese & 2 Items plus 2 Qts. of Pop

Exp. Oct. 31"

Good with coupon.

$7.49

Any Large Cheese & 2 Item Pizza plus 1 Qt. of Pop

(Reg. Value $9.18)

Exp. Oct. 31"

Good with coupon.

$1 OFF

any 3 Item Large Pizza w/1 Qt. of Pop.

Exp. Oct. 31"

Good with coupon

Introducing

ALL YOU CAN EAT PIZZA & SALAD

Mon. & Tues. Nights 5-10:00

$3.99 per person

Free Delivery

Location: Behind Cuthberts at the Parkway Village

Phone: 377-0484

M-Th.—11 a.m. till 1:00 a.m.
F-Sat.—11 a.m. till 2:00 a.m.

WE HONOR MOST VALID COMPETITOR'S COUPONS

JUST A CUT ONLY

$6.50

Free soft drinks with dinner. Come dressed up for our Halloween Party.

Nov. 2nd 6:00-10:00 p.m.
Nov. 3rd 5:00-10:00 p.m.
Nov. 4th 5:00-10:00 p.m.